Yes, but telegrams of the kind were transmitted and there is ample evidence of the fact. Sure?

DELEGATES to the Convention should not fail to visit and inspect the splendidly equipped office of THE REPUBLICAN before leaving Phoenix.

TODAY'S Convention will be composed of one of the best lot of representative Republicans that ever assembled in Convention in the Territory.

That telegram of Colonel Christy's was a source of much trouble to the delegates from the northern counties savoring of the rankest kind of bossism.

MARICOPA COUNTY'S Supervisors did a good act yesterday in resolving to call upon the funding commission for bonds wherewith to take up the floating debt of the county.

From the tone of the twilight howler last night, one may readily infer that its editor is getting ready to bolt the nominee of the Republican convention for delegate, the same as he did two years ago.

The need for railroad connection between Northern and Southern Arizona was never more forcibly shown than in the delay of delegates from the Northern Counties to the Territorial Convention. A North and South railroad is of prime necessity.

The Morrison question is one of those subjects that will not down and the Republicans of Arizona can neither afford to not notice, or pass it by lightly. It is a living, burning subject that must be met with the same firmness and vigor as slavery was met thirty years ago.

WASHOUTS and an accident on the Southern Pacific yesterday prevented many of the delegates to the Territorial Convention from reaching Phoenix. Most of them expect to reach here today, but it may be necessary to adjourn the Convention to allow all to be in attendance before the actual business of the convention is undertaken.

HON. J. M. W. MOORE, of Yavapai, has been favorably mentioned as a suitable man for Joint Councilman for the Northern District. Mr. Moore was a member of the Council from Yavapai in the Fifteenth Legislature and was an active worker therein. His experience would be valuable to him in the future and if nominated he would be a strong candidate.

There is a strong sentiment among the delegates favorable to the nomination of Judge M. J. Egan, of Graham county, for the office of joint councilman from the Southern District. He would be a strong candidate, and, were it not for his positive refusal, his name was to have been presented to the convention for the nomination for Delegate to Congress.

CAPTAIN F. S. INGALLS, Superintendent of the Territorial Prison, arrived on yesterday's train from Yuma to attend the Convention. The Captain has been by far the most efficient Superintendent of the prison has ever had, and is, as shown by yesterday's editorial correspondence to THE REPUBLICAN, instituting wholesome and praiseworthy reforms in the management of that institution.

The influence of the Jews in the financial world is illustrated by the fact that Russia has been compelled by the Rothschilds and other wealthy Jews to give assurance that the condition of the Jews in Russia will not be made any worse than it is. Money is the sinews of war, and the wealthy Jew bankers of Europe can do very much to mould and shape the policy of rulers like the Czar of Russia, whose credit at the best is not very good in the financial world.

A. J. DORAN, a delegate from Pinal county to the Republican Convention, drove over from Florence Sunday, accompanied by Mrs. Doran. He is an old and tried Republican, who was staunch in his party, even in the early days of the Territory. He has been many times elected by his party to office, having been a member of the Eleventh and Fourteenth Legislatures. Mr. Doran has been prominently mentioned as a candidate for the nomination for Delegate, but he insists that his business interests would prohibit his acceptance of the nomination.

On account of delays of the mail by washouts the report of the Apache County Republican Convention, which is given in another column was not received until yesterday. As will be seen the Republicans of Apache take a determined stand upon the Mormon question. These people have lived among "the Lord's anointed" for years, and are thoroughly familiar with them and with their infamous practices. They know of their licentiousness, their open defiance of the law, and their contempt for American institutions. The opinion of the Republicans of Apache county under these circumstances should carry weight, and the Territorial Convention cannot afford to ignore a question of such pregnant interest to the party at large.

There will assemble in this city today a Republican Convention upon which will rest graver responsibilities than probably ever confronted a Republican Convention in Arizona before. It is well known, and there is no use trying to disguise the fact that serious discussions have existed and even now exist in the party. It is also true that these differences are the result of personal feelings and animosities and justly have no place in politics. There are unquestionably a few hot-heads on each side, who are ready at any time to spring a mine in the form of a resolution that would cause serious trouble. Any tendency to such action must be instantly frowned upon. The Republican party stands more than a fighting chance for success this fall. What, with the weak and worthless career of Mark Smith in Congress, the corruption of the Zulick administration, the notorious career of Judge Wright and other points in the Democratic armor equally weak, the Republicans can go into the campaign fully equipped for a successful battle. But it must go in united. Let all join in nominating a strong man for delegate; formulate a bold and outspoken platform; relegate personal feeling and factional strife to oblivion and the Republicans of Arizona cannot only elect their delegate, but secure a good working majority in the Sixteenth Legislature.

ONE of the important duties of the Territorial Convention is the selection of the Chairman and Secretary of the Territorial Central Committee for the next two years. Too little attention has been paid to this part of the work. It is essential that the men for these positions should be true and tried Republicans, without the blemish of a single blot upon their record. Besides this they should be fully in accord with the candidates for delegate so that the work of the campaign can be carried on harmoniously. Especially should the Secretary not only fill these requirements, but he should be able to devote much of his time to the campaign work, attending to correspondence and looking after the party organization in every county. It behooves the Convention to consider well these positions.

It seems as though both political parties in Yuma county this year, will follow in their footsteps, the same as in the past, and not draw party lines. The Republican Convention met at the county seat on last Tuesday evening, elected four delegates to the Territorial Convention and selected a Central Committee of nine members. The Democrats met in Convention at the same place, on Saturday, and after choosing delegates to the Democratic Convention, appointed a Central Committee and adjourned in die.

The high price of silver will have the beneficial result of starting up the mining operations at Tombstone. That camp was at one time a flourishing place, but since 1885 very little has been done in the way of extensive mining. It will take some time for the companies to have as many men at work as formerly, but as fast as consistent their forces will be increased and in a year or less the old air of activity will again be noticed.

Cochise County will present a solid front with her delegation in support of Hon. George W. Cheney for the nomination for delegate. Mr. Cheney has the faculty of being a first-class mixer and is withal a popular man. His majority for Councilman from Cochise County in 1888, exceeded that of any other candidate on the Republican ticket, and his friends assert that he would make equally as strong a run for Delegate.

Among other names mentioned for Joint Councilman from the Northern District is that of Frank M. Murphy, Esq., of Yavapai county. Mr. Murphy is not only well known in his own county, but all over the Territory, and a more popular man around his own home does not live anywhere than Frank Murphy. He is prominently identified with the mining interests of his county and would, if nominated, be a tower of strength to the ticket.

The convention which meets today will be more largely attended than any heretofore held in this Territory. This is partly due to the increased representation given each county, and also to the fact that more interest is being manifested in party affairs this year by the Republicans than heretofore.

It is well understood from the south side of the river to the Democratic convention will come with a slate already made up, and with an intention to stick to it through thick and thin. This is disagreeable news to some candidates for treasurer.

TELEGRAMS received from members of the Cochise and Apache county delegations say they are delayed en route to Phoenix by washouts, and ask that the work of the Convention be delayed till their arrival. Graham, Mohave and part of Yavapai are also delayed.
